

B.E.S.T. Law Enforcement Job Search Resources

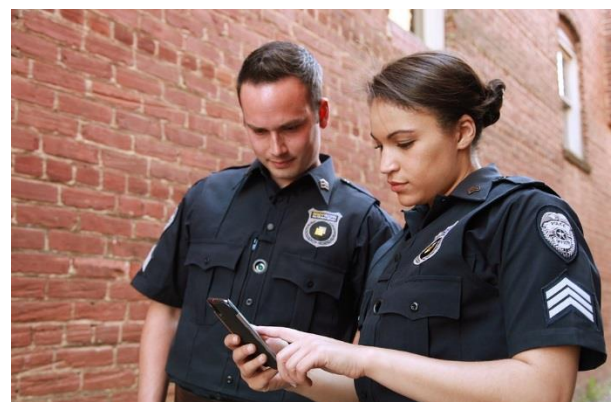

Many law enforcement professionals spend their entire careers “on the job”. Therefore, trying to find the perfect law enforcement or criminal justice job when they retire is a daunting endeavor, even for the most qualified candidates. To assist in their job search effort we provide a variety of services designed for them to identify their transferrable skills, and combine them with their interests, attributes, and goals in selecting a new or similar career when they retire. We also assist existing law enforcement professionals with career management in order to transition to other areas or prepare for promotions.

Law Enforcement/Criminal Justice Job Search Resources

While the law enforcement industry is a little bit more structured than most industries, the key to finding a good job is still the same - network, network, network. For clients who are looking for a law enforcement job in a specific city, county or region the best place to start is to network with local police and law enforcement professionals. They will know the geography, politics, and best strategies, and they will also be familiar with all of the other law enforcement agencies in their area.

The BEST Law Enforcement Network Serves as a Value Added Resource in Making Introductions and Assisting with Job Placement

Throughout the years, we have worked with hundreds of law enforcement professionals from a wide variety of agencies including the FBI, DEA, CIA, ATF, TSA, State Police, and numerous local police departments. Our experience and success has provided us with a solid foundation of networking contacts for the clients we serve. In addition, we provide a number of consulting services for those law enforcement executives, officers and agents who remain on the job.
